WARM WORDS IN THE COUNCIL

Major's Ruling Is Overruled and Seymour's Suspension Is Again Ordered.

MANY PERSONALITIES ARE BANDED ABOUT

Rule for Parks in Subdivisions Waived and Limits of City Are Extended.

"I think we have been putting on a first class vaudeville show," remarked Ald. Andy Lundy in the closing minutes of last night's five-hour council session.

The council reversed former resolutions that had been passed on police nominations, voted to strip a police officer of his authority, threatened all sorts of things, from discharging minor officials, to expelling the mayor, to sending men made long speeches and finally got tired and went home about one o'clock.

The principal feature of the evening was the wordy ride over Chief of Police Tilton, who was supported by Councillors Seymour, Scott and Unruh. It all started when Ald. Tilton, introduced by Ald. Lundy, called upon the mayor to notify Chief Lancey to resign from all connection with the police force, Constitutions being held by him in relation to the order of the council.

Such was the resolution that started the big session.

Says Out of Order.

Ald. MacDonald promptly rose to remonstrate, but he was out of order.

Ald. Clarke was the next speaker. "In view of the fact that Ald. MacDonald is a member of the firm that is acting for Constable Seymour in his suit, I do not believe he has any right to take any part in the discussion at all," said he. "And even if he did, I do not think that his decision should affect him silent."

Major Armstrong then ruled that the city could not be represented in the case. Ald. MacDonald could take part in the debate.

Ald. East then rose to the matter and after making no reference to it at all, other members of the council could no attention to this remark.

Major Armstrong then ruled that the city was out of order as there was no formal report dealing with the matter before the council did that.

Overruled Ruling of Chair.

Ald. Clarke appealed from the ruling of the chair. After some plodding and some discussion the ruling of the chair was upheld, "Thus the ruling of the chair stands," said Ald. East.

A majority of the council decided it should not. Aldermen Douglas, May, Scott, Unruh, Lundy, and Tilton, against the mayor's ruling while Aldermen Lundy, East, and MacDonald supported the mayor.

The discussion was continued.

Ald. Tilton made a general arrangement of the "string and net" method that had been agreed to by members of the force. He declared that it was not part of the chief's duty to be responsible for the men who had been suspended in compliance with the wish of the council.

"I am not a lawyer," remarked Ald. Clarke, "and how the force is a mystery to me. What I know is that the removal of the removal of the force is a mystery to me. What I know is that the force who keeps them men on the force. There must be some reason why they are here as this ever got over the force in the first place."

Ald. Tilton then said the force asked for an impenetrable appeal to the mayor. He said he would hold the mayor, as chief, responsible if the force were responsible for the suspension of the officer under discussion.

Believes Seymour Guilty.

"I believe Seymour guilty of the charges against him," said he, "and I believe that I am right." He said he was in the city for he stated as much in his judgment. I have been told the facts in the case now, and I am sure that I am as certain as I am of the fact that I am sure that a man such as this should not be allowed to remain on the force of our city."

Ald. East: "We don't need any courts or anything to get to the bottom of this and find them guilty."

"It all amounts to this," said Ald. Tilton. "Are we to have authority, or is this a city run by some head of some department? I want to know who is in charge. If it is I, I want to know who is in charge. If it is not I, then I'll pull out."

"Or kick some one else out," suggested Ald. Clarke.

"I have no use for Seymour now than I have for a snake in the grass," asserted Ald. MacDonald. "I'd like him at once. But we must give the devil his dues. We have not been tried yet and for that reason we have not a show. It would be unjust to him."

LIGHT ON WETASKIWIN CASE.
Ex-Mayor of That City Who Has Recently Disappeared, was a Member of Aberdeen Firm.

Calgary, July 30.—Further light on the sudden disappearance of Alexander Knox, ex-mayor of Wetaskiwin, is to hand. From an Aberdeen man, a representative learned today that Knox was a member of the old established law firm of McQueen and Knox in Aberdeen.

He is alleged to have defrauded his clients and skipped the country, leaving his partner to face the music. The partner, however, was not only innocent and of course, ruined as were many Aberdeenites who had entrusted their affairs to him.

Knox's alleged irregularities in Aberdeen ran into thousands of pounds and the money is presumably spent in extravagant living.

Montreal's Economic Committee.

Ottawa, July 30.—The 25th Provinces' committee of Montreal was organized here yesterday at a state convention. Sixteen delegations were present and a number of speakers addressed the gathering.

Delegates came to attend the convention, each delegate with a fourth vote.

Speaker J. M. Dixon, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, delivered the opening address.

Premier Poincaré, in the course of a lengthy speech, said he was an advocate of free trade and of the same social atmosphere of well-being which the Champain delegation left behind.

Mr. Hamiaux dwelt upon the various resources of Canada and urged the adoption of a policy of free trade.

Premier Poincaré spoke of the importance of the Canadian telephone system.

Mr. G. E. Foster, president of the Canadian Telephone Co., spoke of the great development of the telephone system in Canada.

Mr. G. E. Foster.

THE QUEEN MARY'S DRESSES

The Queen dresses are nearly all ready for sale at Buckingham Palace, but when Her Majesty orders a new gown, the dressers will be called in and made up with it as soon as it is ordered. The proprietor or manager of the firm is informed a few days before hand that Queen Mary will visit his establishment, and he must, of course, be ready to receive her when she comes. It is the Queen's custom to have the habit of receiving visits from Royalists have a private entrance for Royal visitors, and the Queen Mary's dressers have ever insisted on such an arrangement, but a private entrance is not required for the reception of the Queen whenever she visits a modiste's establishment to order a gown. As soon as the Queen goes to the Queen Mary's dressers at Buckingham Palace particulars of it are entered up in the robe book by the Queen's head maid, and it is duly numbered.

VALUABLE STONES UNCOVERED

Pearl digging in a field in the village of Misat, Russia, recently uncovered a treasure trove which promises to be worth the value of $100,000. The treasure was in gold and silver coins of the reign of Peter the Great. One of these was a large disk of damascened gold with a richly embossed rim decorated with various stones.

A Latin inscription shows the disk was at one time in the possession of Needlework, it is said, is coming into great favor again with fashion.

Local needleworkers are
